

Council Advocates Plan Changing Procedure For Election of New Editor

Proposed Changes to be Presented to Student Body After Investigation APPROVAL SOUGHT To Be Tabled For Ten Days

The Student Council passed a proposed amendment concerning the election of the editor for the Davidsonian last Monday night to be submitted to a vote of the student body after rumors of combines had reached it and investigations had been made.

After a deep and lengthy investigation of the rumors the council resolved to place the Davidsonian election under the direct supervision of the council this year.

The Student Council passed a proposed amendment concerning the election of the editor for the Davidsonian last Monday night to be submitted to a vote of the student body after rumors of combines had reached it and investigations had been made.

Each member of the committee shall be entitled to one vote. A simple majority shall be necessary for election.

In discussing the proposed amendment Fred Stair, President of the Student Council, stated: "The purpose of the proposed amendment is not to favor nor disfavor any of the candidates eligible for the office, but rather for the good of the student body, and for the good of the Davidsonian in particular."

The proposed amendment will do away with political combinations that may arise between any groups. Men who have worked on the Davidsonian editorial staff for three years and at the least two years will elect the editor-in-chief.

Newspaper Heads Pick Six Editors

Fifteen men are eligible for the six posts available on the managerial staffs of the Davidsonian next year.

These include: Phil Peyton, Bill Hamilton, Ed Watson, Andy Dale, Bob Williams, Miller Sproull, Tom Cable, Jamie McDuffie, Frank Barker, Winston Taylor, Lawson Withers, Paul Bumberger, Joe Liles, Ross McElwee, and Roy Cunningham.

For the past two issues these men have been instructed by the present editors as to how the make-up of the paper should be constructed. Formerly, the Sophomores and the Freshmen have just written the stories and heads for the paper, and the Junior editors have had full charge of the make-up until the period of tutelage began with the last issue.

New Dorm's Site Chosen Below East

In a recent meeting the Building and Grounds Committee decided that Davidson's new dormitory should be constructed on the vacant lot just east of East Dormitory.

Several sites were discussed at the meeting, but the committee finally agreed to keep the present Dormitory Row intact, and to have the new building in line with East, West, and Georgia.

As yet final blueprints for the dormitory have not been selected, but it will probably vary considerably from the dormitories now on the campus.

The anniversary number contains 40 pages of concentrated humor, which is eight pages longer than any previously published, and 40 more pages of humor than ever before published.

J. L. Ballard Is Lecturer At Meeting

Major Ballard speaks on "General Allenby's Campaign in Palestine"

Major James L. Ballard, professor of Military Science at Davidson College, presented a lecture to the student body last Friday night on "General Allenby's Campaign in Palestine."

Invited to speak by the Bible department, he compared Allenby's success in overcoming the Turks with many military triumphs told of in the Bible, such as Joshua's conquest of Jericho.

In his lecture he told of how General Murray attempted to drive the Turks out of Gaza, their stronghold, and his failure.

Allenby made all his troop movements under cover of night, and attempted several cavalry raids upon Beersheba, a town near Gaza from which the Turks obtained most of their water supply.

Major Ballard was introduced by Dr. Kenneth J. Foreman of the Bible department of the college.

A number of students, who will be unable to go to their homes because they live too far away, will remain here on the campus during the five days.

Students who plan to take examinations or re-examinations during this period of the year should make the necessary arrangements with Mr. Hengeveld.

Rev. C. Grier Davis, Davidson Alumnus, Leads Spring Devotionals

SEVEN SERVICES HELD

Speaking on "What A Christian Ought To Do," Rev. C. Grier Davis, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Asheville, will close the annual YMCA spring services tonight at 7:15 in Chambers Auditorium.

During the week the Asheville minister has shown that Christian faith is not a problem but life itself, consisting of two elements: a conviction about God followed by a glorious adventure based on this conviction.

Rev. Davis has pointed out that a Christian's first responsibility is himself, and that until he has reported, which means changing one's mental outlook on life, he cannot expect to take part in any social redemption.

The YMCA speaker, a native of Monticello, Ark., was graduated from Davidson in 1927. In 1929 he entered Princeton Theological Seminary and transferred the next year to Union Seminary in Richmond.

On this trip the Glee Club was under the direction of Prof. Thane McDonald and the Little Symphonic Orchestra under the direction of Prof. James C. Phoff.

Yes, sir! It certainly looks as if Spring is here, and with it naturally comes baseball, track, golf, and tennis, and possibly even thoughts of summer and freedom.

We see that the Yankees have started their winning ways already by edging out the Cards a couple of times. They look stronger than ever with a rookie outfielder that is slated to take the right field post away from George Selkirk.

Pete Whittle had his first view of his proteges in action last Saturday when the Varsity engaged in a practice meet with the Freshmen. The team showed up fairly well for this early in the season, but it is very evident that we will be woefully weak in several departments.

The team will miss Bailey Williams and "Cruzer" Crisp in the weights, because it does not have an outstanding discus hurler or shot putter.

While most of the Davidson students are blissfully enjoying the needed holidays of this week-end the tennis and golf teams will be representing the school and having a good time meeting teams in the South and Southwest.

The Golf team is also going galavanting around the Southern States in quest of wins on different courses around the country.
