State ABC Board Approves Permit

Town Goes Wet After 131 Years

By NORWICH POLAND
Staff Writer

After a meeting Monday night, the Town Council of Huntington has finally voted to go wet. In a previous meeting, the council said that it would have to have a referendum before it could vote to go wet. They have now decided to have a referendum in order to get the votes of the town.

The Supreme Court has already ruled that the referendum must be held in order to get the votes of the town. This ruling has caused a lot of controversy in the town, with some people supporting the decision and others opposing it.

President Hobbie: The SGA May Not Be a Failure, If...

By DANNY WHITE
Staff Writer

"It would continue to do business with the college and the administration if student government must not be a failure," said Mr. Whitfield, who is the president of the student government association.

The Civil Rights Act Board has met at least five times and has discussed the role of the student government association in the future of the student body.

Youth Fare Rates May Get The Axe

The Student Union Small Fare is up to the nit, and that may hurt a few businesses in the area.

The Brown University Board of Control is considering lowering the fare rates for students who take the bus to school. The board has been discussing the issue for several weeks, and some students are concerned about the decision.

Spencer Picks Committees For Campus Reevaluation

By STEVE ROY
Staff Writer

The President's Office announced Monday that the planning committee for Revaluation of the University's Core of Education and the University's Core of Administration, and the planning committee for Revaluation of the University's Core of Research, have been formed.

The President's Office has also announced that the planning committee for Revaluation of the University's Core of Research will be held on a monthly basis.

The President's Office has also announced that the planning committee for Revaluation of the University's Core of Research will be held on a monthly basis.

SGA Ratifies Revision

The Supreme Court has ruled that the SGA must continue to do business with the college and the administration if student government must not be a failure.

The Supreme Court has ruled that the SGA must continue to do business with the college and the administration if student government must not be a failure.

Rusk Visits Here Today

Forester Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Jr., will be back on campus tomorrow and today at a conference on the future of the college and the University.

The Supreme Court has ruled that the SGA must continue to do business with the college and the administration if student government must not be a failure.

The Supreme Court has ruled that the SGA must continue to do business with the college and the administration if student government must not be a failure.
An Educated Bookstore

President Spencer's announcement this week of a committee to examine the possibility of locating a bookstore on the Davidson campus has raised hopes among students that this idea, which has been discussed in the past, might finally become a reality.

The bookstore would be a valuable addition to the campus, providing a convenient place for students to purchase books and other materials. It would also serve as a meeting place for students and faculty, and could potentially generate additional revenue for the college.

The proposal has been received with enthusiasm, and students are eager to see the bookstore become a reality. However, there are still many challenges that need to be overcome before this vision can become a reality.

The Professor's Role

When we examined the role of the Davidson professor in our last issue, we wrote that "no important aspect of his life [is] his teaching, nor his personal relationships with individual students."

We find in the reference catalogue buried under a network of idealistic assertions about Davidson, a statement that拔出 "The professor is the guiding spirit of the college, a personification of the college's ideals and objectives."

In its implementation to provide for the present ideal, the catalogues says, "Davidson has chosen to make the professor a centralized small community of scholars, in which the college's work is done, a community, not of all professors, but of the few who embody the college's spirit and ideals."

Without this backbone assumption of the general characteristic of all Davidson professors, the most obvious - although not always recognized - fact about the professor is his role as a central motivator of the majority to foster such relationships. They

The Tickets Gripe

Athletic ticket policy seems like a small matter when compared to the Blue Sky curriculum, the college's spastic administration, and the concerns of the college and college life. Yet, like the sea, it is all in the details. Many of us wonder whether the athletic department is dedicated to making student life is to make it difficult or impossible for us to enjoy the games.

It's a pity that the athletic department doesn't think more about us, the students, and what we want. It would be nice to see that the athletic department is dedicated to making student life enjoyable, and making the games available.

Beyond Its Usefulness

A few years ago, a distinguished mathematician gave a lecture at a Virginia school. Afterward, a Vesperian senior in a crowd of students and faculty came up to him and asked, "What do you do?"

The mathematician replied, "I do nothing."

"What do you mean?" asked the student.

"I mean that I do nothing," explained the mathematician. "I just work on problems and solve them."

"But isn't that a waste of time?" asked the student.

"Not at all," replied the mathematician. "Every time I solve a problem, I create a new one for someone else to solve."

"That's all right," said the student. "But what does it all add up to?"

"That's precisely what I'm trying to find out," answered the mathematician.

"But what about the students who come after you?"

"They'll have a whole new set of problems to solve," said the mathematician. "And that's what I'm working on."
Coeducation Week Devised To Tackle Male Applicants

Sarah Lawrence College plans to implement a coeducation program for the 1969-70 school year. Plans for the program were announced in the school’s Spring Round-Up, a student publication. The new program is designed to open the college to women and to make it more attractive to applicants.

Sarah Lawrence plans to accept as many as 60 in its first coeducation class, and student Esther Kaufman has said that the college will use the program to attract women who might otherwise be discouraged from applying.

The experience of the 20 students enrolled in the college during the past two years has shown that the Sarah Lawrence coeducation program is successful in attracting women as well as men. Sarah Lawrence is known for its high standards and its emphasis on the humanities.

Men and women who are interested in the program are encouraged to apply. The college is accepting applications until the end of March.

Sponsoring Open Gym To TEST

The sponsoring committee for the sponsoring open gym has announced that the gym will be used to select the men's basketball team for the 1969-70 season. The gym will be open to all students who wish to participate, and the games will be played on a regular schedule.

The sponsoring committee for the sponsoring open gym has announced that the gym will be used to select the men's basketball team for the 1969-70 season. The gym will be open to all students who wish to participate, and the games will be played on a regular schedule.

Sponsoring Open Gym To TEST

The sponsoring committee for the sponsoring open gym has announced that the gym will be used to select the men's basketball team for the 1969-70 season. The gym will be open to all students who wish to participate, and the games will be played on a regular schedule.

Sponsoring Open Gym To TEST

The sponsoring committee for the sponsoring open gym has announced that the gym will be used to select the men's basketball team for the 1969-70 season. The gym will be open to all students who wish to participate, and the games will be played on a regular schedule.

Sponsoring Open Gym To TEST

The sponsoring committee for the sponsoring open gym has announced that the gym will be used to select the men's basketball team for the 1969-70 season. The gym will be open to all students who wish to participate, and the games will be played on a regular schedule.

Sponsoring Open Gym To TEST

The sponsoring committee for the sponsoring open gym has announced that the gym will be used to select the men's basketball team for the 1969-70 season. The gym will be open to all students who wish to participate, and the games will be played on a regular schedule.

Sponsoring Open Gym To TEST

The sponsoring committee for the sponsoring open gym has announced that the gym will be used to select the men's basketball team for the 1969-70 season. The gym will be open to all students who wish to participate, and the games will be played on a regular schedule.

Sponsoring Open Gym To TEST

The sponsoring committee for the sponsoring open gym has announced that the gym will be used to select the men's basketball team for the 1969-70 season. The gym will be open to all students who wish to participate, and the games will be played on a regular schedule.

Sponsoring Open Gym To TEST

The sponsoring committee for the sponsoring open gym has announced that the gym will be used to select the men's basketball team for the 1969-70 season. The gym will be open to all students who wish to participate, and the games will be played on a regular schedule.

Sponsoring Open Gym To TEST

The sponsoring committee for the sponsoring open gym has announced that the gym will be used to select the men's basketball team for the 1969-70 season. The gym will be open to all students who wish to participate, and the games will be played on a regular schedule.
FOUL!
A Study Of Reactions
By David Weems
and
John Davidson
February 7, 1969
Page Four
Conference Gives Approval To NIT Tournament Play

If a Southern Conference team is defeated in the Southern Conference basketball tournament, it has nine days to file an appeal in the U.S. Court of Appeals, second circuit, in New York City, a conference spokesman said today.

Dallas Shurley, director of the Hooper-Maxwell Foundation and former conference secretary, said the appeal could be filed against the現况's decision, and in the case of an appeal, the second circuit, it would be eligible to accept the appeal.

The appeal would have to be filed within 90 days from the date of the decision, or the decision would be final. If the decision is upheld, the team would be ineligible for the NCAA tournament.

Road-Wear-Weary 'Cats Return To Johnston Gym And GW

By RUS MERRITT

Nearly everything had been said the night before, and still the game that most everybody said was the best of the season was being played in Richland Coliseum that night.

George Washington's "new kid" Colson will make another try this Saturday afternoon when he takes on Jamestown Universität with a lot of talent and a little bit of a flank to make it appear it's a game between the teams with an 11.5 average.

The Colonials' winning streak in Big Ten games will be on the line, and there will be no way around it. The Colonials will also be playing in front of their own fans, who have never seen a game before.

The Colonials take to the court against the Blue Jays, who are coming off a loss to last year's champs, the University of Maryland. The Blue Jays are looking to at least tie the game and make a statement against the Colonials. The game is set to begin at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

Cannon And Watts Lead In IMAC Play

On Tuesday night, the IMAC standings were updated and Cannon and Watts took the lead. Cannon had 18 points and Watts had 15, opening the door for them to compete for the championship.

Wildkittens Ride Minkin To Duke Comeback Win

Under the direction of an assistant coach in the audience after the game, the Wildkittens were able to ride the momentum of Minkin's performance and put the game on the road.

The Wildkittens fall into the lead after the game and left the other teams in the deficit. They were able to get the win and put the game on the road. It was a great game for the Wildkittens.
Group Ponders Chapel

By MARK HODGES

Staff Writer

A student-faculty committee has met several times to discuss the possibility of a chapel on campus. The committee is made up of students, faculty and members of the church community.

The formation of the committee was the result of the student senate's proposal for a chapel, several times this semester. The proposal called for a chapel.

A committee with similar goals was also formed at another college and probably other colleges put similar committees in place to try to meet student demands for a chapel on campus.

This committee, however, is not only to explore the chapel situation but also to accommodate the interest of religious students and the church community.

Thus far, no church has been chosen or decided upon, but several have been visited by students. These churches are: First Presbyterian Church of Spartanburg, First Presbyterian Church of Greenville, First Presbyterian Church of Travelers Rest, First Presbyterian Church of Anderson, First Presbyterian Church of Spartanburg and River Mill Presbyterian Church.

The committee is made up of students, faculty and members of the church community.

Gately And Staff Finish Casual, Unposed Q & C

By BOB WALLACE

Staff Writer

The last day of class and the last day of the school term have been written in the calendar, and a new beginning looks like a long way off for the campus community.

Gately said he knew his job would change and he was looking forward to the change.

"This is the beginning of my first full year of working with the campus community," said Gately. "I am glad to be here and I am looking forward to working with all of you."