Montreal Breeds Ideas

The MISCELLANY section of the weekly student newspaper, The Davidsonian, published on May 9, 1969, includes a variety of articles and contributions. This particular clipping features a section titled "Board Follows Faculty Lead, Assents to Voluntary ROTC," which indicates a discussion or decision related to student enrollment and ROTC program participation. The article mentions a vote of the Board of Trustees, possibly in response to the Vietnam War and the student-led protests against the involvement of ROTC (Reserve Officer Training Corps) on campus. This reflects the broader context of the time, which was marked by civil rights, anti-war movements, and student activism. The article seems to be addressing the need for a resolution on ROTC participation, indicating the Board's considerations and the likely implications of their decision. The editorial content of the article is typical of the era, reflecting the political climate and social issues of the time. The article also touches upon ROTC's role in higher education and the expectations of the students and the broader community.
A Drop of Mercy

Although it is indeed difficult to accomplish things on the Davidson campus. As the historian of the Hall Council has managed to come through with several impressive improvements that do help to ameliorate the living situation.

One recent bit of mercy was the restoration of a corner of the empty spaces behind Walls and little after the fire. The actual document personnel closed off the area. They were planned real; yet, on an off day is worthwhile.

These and other improvements, which include the offer of the RIC in offering its planned dorm rooms to Davidson students, is one of the many times that the campus is being made a little more welcome for us.

Beyond Usefulness

What used to be reasonable sacrifice against abuse of need scholarships and financial assistance has been an additional form of social discrimination of a kind.

The role forbids any student on the scholarship to be involved in any type of employment necessary to have a car on campus for more than a few hours. The reasoning has been that a student's scholarship was too poor to have a car.

But now the car has become a virtual necessity in a technological so

For Consistency

A minor item in the proposed improvements is the question of the number of students which has drawn little attention in the past. When I first entered the dorm its number increased.

But to the case of the janitors, it is quite logical that it requires more work. The janitorial staff is made up of one person, who is at least during a quarter.

When I start again, however, it is not just a matter of being made up of one person. It is also a matter of being made up of one person, who is at least during a quarter.

The Delta basked in another soggy victory over the VMI Axemen in Monday night’s contest at the Magnolia Golf Course. The Delta women brought 12 of the 13 runs they scored on the night as a result of a five-run outburst in the third inning.

In the middle of the sixth, the Delta started their winning streak of five runs in a row with the help of three Delta errors. The Delta was able to carry the lead all the way through the inning, and the game ended with a 27-1 victory for the Delta women.

The Delta's starting pitcher, Beau Smith, pitched a complete game, allowing just one hit and four earned runs. Smith was credited with the victory, improving her record to 4-0 on the season.

The team's hitting was led by Jessica Baker, who went 3-for-4 with two doubles and four RBIs. Her teammate, Sarah Johnson, also had a strong performance with three hits and two RBIs.

The Delta's defense was solid behind the plate, with catcher Emily Cooper recording three putouts and one assist. Shortstop Lauren Miller also had a successful game with two hits and one RBI.

The win was a good start for the Delta women, who are currently in second place in the conference standings. They will look to continue their winning ways in their next game against the VMI Axemen on Friday night.
