

THE DAVIDSONSONIAN

What To Be Located In the Gymnasium

Mr. James Moore Is to Have Charge. Many Plans Made.

Mr. James A. G. Moore, who is to have charge of Y. M. C. A. activities on the campus, has arrived and is making plans for his work. The paper and envelopes for the writing room have come and a moving picture machine is expected in a few weeks. A series of entertainments has been planned for this winter, but exactly what it is to consist of has not been announced yet.

The large room to the left as you enter the gymnasium is to be used as a recreation room. Whenever the men are on duty they can find something there to interest them. The secretary plans to stay in the building so that he will be easily accessible at all hours to discuss any problems that may come before the men. Portable benches will be used for the Y. M. C. A. meetings every Sunday night as well as for the concerts and shows. Bible classes will be held Sunday mornings as heretofore and every man on the campus is urged to join one of them. No definite plans have been made in regard to the country Sunday School work, but if possible they will be continued.

Davidson is very fortunate in getting Mr. Moore, as he has had a wide experience in this work and has put his whole soul into it. He went into the Y. M. C. A. work soon after the declaration of war and has been in it ever since, coming to us from Camp Wadsworth. He is acquainted with all the problems of camp life and ready to help any of the men in any way he may be able. Having received his preparatory training at Trinity College, Connecticut, Mr. Moore entered Brown's University for his theological training, which he completed only a short time before he received his appointment as Y. M. C. A. secretary. He states that he does not wish to be regarded as an officer but as a friend to the soldiers.

"A" Company Leading In Basketball League

Much Interest Shown In Inter-Company Contests.

During the past two weeks the campus has been thrilled by a series of basketball contests which almost exceeded in magnitude the gladiatorial games of ancient Rome. From each company of the Davidson S. A. T. C. has issued a quintet of stars who have bravely fought to uphold the honor of its company. After the dust of battle had subsided it was found that Company A was leading the procession with a record of three games won and only one lost. Companies B and D each have lost one game and won another, while Company C has lost the only two it played. The actual scores are as follows:

Company A 14	Company C 12
Company A 16	Company D 26
Company A 25	Company B 12
Company A 22	Company D 16
Company C 7	Company B 18

With reference to the article appearing in the editorial columns of The Davidsonian in the last issue regarding the asking of blessing at mess, the commandant wishes it to be announced that the saying grace or asking a blessing is not only allowed in the army but is encouraged. He hopes that every one of the mess halls will continue to observe this devotion.

"Flu" Has Vanished From Davidson Campus

More Than Hundred Cases In Town. Mills Shut Down.

The Spanish "flu" epidemic, which for almost three weeks has been raging on the campus, is now practically over, and the few remaining cases are rapidly recovering in the infirmary. In all, there were something over 200 cases of the "flu," of whom not more than a score developed into pneumonia. The one sad and regrettable outcome of the epidemic was the death of Dan Currie, the only fatality resulting from pneumonia, and the whole student body joins with his people in mourning his loss.

To meet the emergency South Wing Chambers was rapidly converted into an impromptu infirmary. Fortunately several nurses could be secured, who with the aid of the local Red Cross, the faculty members, and the ladies of the town, ably and successfully handled the situation. The town of Davidson certainly showed its worth during this crisis in the college, and now that the community is so hard hit with the disease it is time the college should show its appreciation by helping out in any way possible. The nurses had their hands full while combating the disease among the students, and it was due to the splendid support rendered by the faculty members and town ladies that so few of the cases proved to be serious. Every man in the student body realizes the sacrifices and dangers undergone by these good people and sincerely appreciates them every one. And it is right that the folks back home should know that they, at the risk of contracting the disease themselves, averted many a case of pneumonia and without doubt saved many a life. They are too many to be mentioned individually, but everyone knows who they are, and the appreciation and respect of the entire student body is accorded everyone. Every Davidson man realizes that he has the opportunity of living in as fine a college community and with as fine a faculty as any in the country, and he is proud of it.

Thru Sunday over 100 cases had been reported in the town, with a number of pneumonia cases. It was a serious question combating the disease intown, as patients could not be brought to a central hospital, but had to be treated in their separate homes. Last Wednesday evening in the Civic League hall, a citizens meeting was held, presided over by Mayor Sloan, in which the epidemic situation was reviewed and several committees were appointed with which the Red Cross should co-operate in an effort to see that there should be no neglect of the sick who are unable to have proper nursing, either for financial or other reasons, more especially because unable to find a nurse where the most of the family is down with the disease.

Both of the cotton mills were silent for several days as the electric power was not being furnished, but the Linden had to shut down the day before on account of the absence of sick operatives.

Hon. W. J. Bryan Visits Davidson Campus

Forceful Address Made Before S. A. T. C. and Townpeople.

Great excitement was caused in the companies on Saturday morning, October 12, as the news spread about that Hon. William Jennings Bryan was expected on the campus any moment. The companies were in the act of forming for the regular Saturday morning inspection when a Packard rolled slowly around the semicircle past Chambers and drew up in front of the Library. Mr. Bryan, accompanied by Colonel Maccomb, commanding officer of Camp Greene, and Mayor McNinch, of Charlotte, alighted and looked around the campus for a short time.

About 9:30 the companies were assembled and marched to the flagpole, where they formed in a semicircle. Dr. Martin spoke briefly, congratulating the student soldiers in having such distinguished guests on the campus, and with appropriate words introduced Mr. Bryan.

The well-known statesman then spoke for ten or fifteen minutes to the men. He said that he had always wanted to make a visit to Davidson, having heard a good deal about her reputation. He had always been interested in young people and especially in young men, as he had worked a good deal among them and understood them better. He also stated that he watched the progress of educational institutions, especially Christian colleges, with the deepest of interest. He then proceeded to give the student soldiers much valuable advice, showing them what in the end were the things in life which most counted. Toward the end of his talk he made the striking statement that most men sink into unknown graves while some few forget themselves into immortality. Mr. Bryan concluded his address by making the promise that sometime he would return to Davidson when he had longer to stay. He was loudly applauded, having made a deep impression on the men of the college.

Colonel Maccomb then spoke a few words, expressing his interest in the progress the local S. A. T. C. was making here at Davidson. Mayor McNinch cordially offered the support of Char-

IN MEMORIAM.

On the 5th of October, on the aviation field at Fort Worth, Tex., Lieut. Frank H. Smith, '16, was killed in an aeroplane accident. Graduating at the age of eighteen, Frank Smith was one of the finest and smartest men that has attended Davidson College. Dignified of appearance, sterling of character, brilliant intellect, generous of heart, a splendid orator, a popular, all-round man—those who knew him in college remember him, and with the deepest of respect. There was many an exclamation of heartfelt regret that such a splendid life should be snuffed out just as its time of usefulness to the world had arrived.

When the influenza and pneumonia epidemic had swept over the campus it left behind it one sad spot in the college life—the death of Daniel Currie. He was bright and cheerful, and already well liked in his short stay of not much over two weeks on the campus. It is hard to understand why a young life with such a brilliant future should be so pitifully cut off, and yet the ways of Providence are guided by more than human wisdom. The deepest sympathy of the entire student body goes out to his home folks in their great trial.

Lacking just one day of completing her training course in the Presbyterian Hospital in Charlotte, Miss Rose Stevenson, of Loray, succumbed to pneumonia contracted while bravely nursing men back to health and strength here on the campus. Davidson men appreciate this noble sacrifice more than they can express. Miss Stevenson's brother, R. M. Stevenson, was a graduate of Davidson, and this fact no doubt drew the trained nurse to come here to help.

A telegram received Sunday from the Hampden Roads Naval Training Station stated that J. S. Bachman, '18, died on last Thursday night of pneumonia, after a single day's illness. Up to the time when the paper went to the press no further particulars had arrived. The news came as a distinct shock to those who know him while in college, and his classmates will hear of Joe's death with sorrow. Quiet and unassuming, Joe was popular with all, his position on the Student Council attesting to his high type of character. We all feel his loss deeply.

EXPLANATION.

The fact that no Davidsonian was published last week and that every issue so far has been only four pages is due to the influenza epidemic which continually kept the staff and reporters' staff short-handed and confined everyone strictly to the campus. We hope our readers understand the situation. From now on, however, we hope to put out a live, full sheet and make up for the deficiencies of the last three weeks.

WANTED—CARTOONS.

To make The Davidsonian what it should be, there should be more cartoons or caricatures dealing with the everyday life on the campus. Nothing gives life and color to a paper more than cuts of such a nature. There should surely be a number of artists among so large a gathering of young fellows, and the staff would be greatly indebted to any who would turn their talent in this direction and draw for The Davidsonian cartoons dealing with any phase of life on the campus—athletics, drill, barrack life, etc. Help us make the paper an interesting organ.

THE LIBRARY.

There seems to be a misunderstanding among many of the new men as to what the Library is for. Some as yet are not sure whether they can go into the reading room or not, and have no idea what the second floor is used for. Men, the reading room is open to all. The newspapers and periodicals were placed there for you to read. You are urged to take books out to read for instruction and recreation. Miss Shaw will gladly furnish any information as to reading matter which you may want. Use the Library freely and you won't regret it.

COMPANY RIVALRY.

Anything that stimulates rivalry in work or play is of inestimable value in arousing interest and purpose in the contestants. Company basketball has taken the place of class ball this year, and it should not only furnish recreation, but should arouse a company spirit which cannot help but extend into the regular activities of the day, such as drill and the maintenance of the general standard of each company. It remains to be seen which will prove to be the best all-round company, but the sooner a company spirit or rivalry is formed, the sooner will the general efficiency of all the companies increase. Every company has material for a good basketball team and there should be a close and interesting series. And may the best and best-backed team win out.

NOTICE.

All men, especially the new men, who wish to report for The Davidsonian are requested to hand in their names to G. A. Byrd, on first floor of Georgia, before Saturday night. No talent or experience is necessary, only a willingness to work. A competition will be held during the fall for election to the reporters' staff in the spring.

"Subscribe for a bond and allot five dollars" has for the past week been the slogan given by Lieut. Candler, and has brought its results. The bonds subscribed by the students have aggregated $13,050. Lieut. Candler addressed the S. A. T. C. men on this matter and brought out reasons for every soldier here getting a bond at this time. The fellows have practically to a man subscribed, and furthermore will willingly give themselves and everything else when the proper time comes to "drive a tack in the Kaiser's coffin."

MISS ROSE STEVENSON.

Miss Rose Stevenson, who is remembered by a number of men at Davidson, died Monday, October 14, with pneumonia. She came from Charlotte when volunteers were called for to treat the influenza patients. Miss Stevenson was an excellent nurse, and worked diligently in her unselfish endeavor to bring relief to her patients. She was regarded with the greatest respect and highest esteem by all who knew her, and it was deeply regretted when she contracted the illness that she was treating, necessitating her return to Charlotte. Shortly after her return she contracted a case of pneumonia, which proved fatal.

Miss Stevenson had just finished her training at the Presbyterian Hospital, and was at the point of graduation when death robbed her of the honor. She will be long remembered by those who knew her at Davidson. Her service will be remembered and appreciated, and the honor will be bestowed upon her that she deserved.

In behalf of the staff officers of the local S. A. T. C., I wish to express our deepest appreciation for the splendid services rendered by all those who took part in combating the recent epidemic of Spanish influenza on the campus. We want to take this opportunity to thank the professors of the college and the ladies of the town for their sacrifices in ministering to the student soldiers; also the physicians, who in addition to their already heavy practices, gave much of their time to this work. We wish especially to express our appreciation to the trained nurses, several of whom volunteered for this work and came from other towns to help out in the emergency, laboring day and night, at the risk of contracting the disease themselves. The fact that there were so few serious cases in proportion to the total number and that the recoveries were so rapid, speaks well for the promptness and thoroughness with which the situation was taken under control. We deeply regret the death of Miss Stevenson, who contracted the disease while at Davidson, and would express our heartfelt appreciation for her sacrifice and sympathy for her people at home.

FIRST LT. R. G. DENNARD.,
Commandant.

LIEUT. SULLIVAN TO ACT AS RIFLE INSTRUCTOR

We are glad to welcome Lieutenant Sullivan, who is to act as rifle instructor for the college. He comes to Davidson from Camp Perry, Ohio, where he received his training. At present Lieutenant Sullivan is acting commander for Company "D."

For the immediate future an indoor range is to be used for rifle practice, but it is planned to establish a regular outdoor range later. The guns from the government have not yet arrived, tho they are expected to arrive in the near future.

"Dear —: I am now up where the fun is. . . Things have changed and I am over here in the mud. The army has been the very thing for me. I weigh about eighteen pounds more than I did when I enlisted and am as hard as a rock. Believe I would go out for football if I were back at college. I have been on my job for a day and night at the time without rest and can get away with it. We have good food and very good hours most of the time. We have four heavy blankets and sleep well when we get a chance.

"It is rather exciting to hear the shells whistle thru the air.

"Don't talk about these little French mademoiselles. I have seen them and I believe you will like army life all right.

He holds the record of the two hundred twenty yard dash from Davidson. He also won first prize in the fancy diving contest. Gilchrist was one of two Americans who gained the championship of the Bordeaux district in France, where a part of the United States forces are fighting.

Every week some of us are hearing from the fellows who are in the camps or overseas. The Davidsonian is vitally interested in all Davidson alumni who are "With the Colors," and it proposes to publish from week to week interesting extracts from the letters of these alumni. Fellows, The Davidsonian is your paper, to be kept up to its motto, "Good, Clean and Snappy." You can help make it such by handing in such extracts to the editor or any of the staff members.

The following lines are from a letter written October 2 by William Love, ex-'20, who enlisted in May in the Marines and is now "over there." They remind us of William's humor of old:

"We sailed from a certain port in the U. S. and after a certain number of days we arrived at a certain French port and thence to a certain camp where we now are. France is a pretty nice place when the sun shines, but when it rains you get lost in the mud. This is the dry season now, it rains only six days in the week. In the rainy season it rains eight days in the week."

Mrs. Spink was ushered by Jane into a friend's house for an afternoon call, and, as she stood in the hall a voice called softly down from somewhere above:

"Jane, if that's Mrs. Spink, I'm not at home."
The caller lifted her head sharply. "It is Mrs. Spink," she shouted, "and she's mighty glad to hear it."—Ex.
